JEANNEAU 64 - S/Y THEA

S/Y Thea is based all year around in the Real Club Nautico in Palma de Mallorca. She is effectively a small superyacht and the culmination of a years-long collaboration between Jeanneau's American-born production chief Erik Stromberg, French yacht designer Philippe Briand and British interior design maven Andrew Winch. Winner of a SAIL Best Boats award for Best Flagship Monohull, this impressive luxury cruiser features strictly segregated working and social spaces, so that the crew and guests can do their thing underway without interfering with one another. Thea offers three major staterooms, a luxurious full-width owner's space right aft, complemented by two other staterooms, one double and one with bunks in the boat's opposite end, all with ensuite heads and separate showers. Yet another great superyacht deck feature is the tender garage behind the big fold-down transom which features plenty of toys guaranteeing to make your trip to the Balearics unforgettable.
